Visitor's top tips

Great walk into the village for a meal at one of the many lovely pubs (many are dog friendly), or a visit to local shops. There are great butchers and bakers.

You can purchase fresh free-range eggs from the farm stall down the lane from the site.

Pick up a map of the village from reception.

Royston Heath is also nearby – great place to exercise dogs with a nice cafe.

There is an excellent farm shop within easy walking distance of the site. We were surprised by the range and quality of food and non-food items on sale.

Visit the RSPB Lodge Nature Reserve. It's the largest stretch of heathland in Bedfordshire and we had a wonderful day out.

There is a lovely little church in the village which is worth a visit.

A great base for visiting Cambridge.
